From the Governor's Desk

Dear Friends,

My wife, Ann and I, would like to welcome you to the beautiful state of Maine. I hope you use this book, produced by the Maine Tourism Association, to discover all that Maine has to offer. From thousands of miles of coastline for sightseeing, to rolling mountains available for skiing and hiking, Maine has something for everyone.

I know that you will not be disappointed with your visit to Maine. Our people are friendly, and our state is beautiful. Take some time to discover the state, and the rich culture it has to offer. Maine provides visitors with a unique experience to explore some of the best natural beauty in the country.

During your trip, I encourage you to take advantage of the wonderful food Maine has to offer. I encourage you to enjoy Maine lobster and steamers, the best in the world. Don't forget our blueberry and apple pies or our potatoes!

I hope you and your families create some unforgettable memories while in Maine.

Warmest Regards,

Paul R. LePage
Governor

From the Chief Executive Officer

Dear Reader,

I hope you make your vacation plans using Maine Invites You as quickly as you can. After all, there are only 365 days in a year to enjoy all that this very special place we call Maine has to offer. So little time and so much to see and do!

Each of the four seasons in Maine has something unique to offer everyone in your family and your friends. Our mountains reach to the sea and the coastline reflects the beauty and majesty of the Maine woodlands. Our pristine forests are enhanced by a coastline that never seems to end. One new adventure and discovery after another are yours to make every day of the year. Come see for yourself why we are so happy to welcome you to our home and why we, with so much pride, call Maine 'Vacationland'! Cover to cover, Maine Invites You will enlighten and entice you with all there is to do and be a part of in Maine.

As a final note, we are extremely proud to have the Dingley Press of Lisbon, Maine and Verso Paper of Jay, Maine as printer and paper supplier for this year's publication. Maine craftsman and products at their very best! Just another reason to do business in Maine!

Hurry up, make your plans and get here soon please!

Sincerely,

How to Use This Guide

The first section of this guide contains statewide travel information as well as activities lists organized by town and region. The remainder of the guide is divided into eight regional sections. Each regional section also includes a list of local Chambers of Commerce and a Travel Services Directory of Maine Tourism Association members.

We appreciate the many businesses that support this publication with advertising. An Index to Advertisers can be found on pages 206-207.

Every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information in this guide, as of October 2010. However, we suggest that you call ahead to check details.

There's more online: please visit Maine Tourism Association at www.mainetourism.com and the Maine Office of Tourism at www.visitmaine.com.

Your Gateway to More of Maine

Fly to Bangor International Airport, and you'll land closer to all Maine has to offer. Acadia National Park, Bar Harbor and the DownEast and Acadia Region, Mid-Coast and Northern Maine are all within easy reach. Plus, BGR is a "user friendly" airport, with convenient services.

Let BGR welcome you to Maine.

Spring Forth

Spring in Maine

We all have our favorite heralds of spring.

Whether it's the sound of songbirds returning north, the fresh taste of fiddleheads gathered from the riverbanks, or the flick of a fly rod on opening day, spring is a time of bright anticipation here in Maine. Long sunny days warm the slopes for fabulous spring skiing. Flowers decorate the city streets and farmers' markets. The rush of whitewater brings rafting and kayaking enthusiasts. And award-winning restaurants begin rolling out their spring menus in celebration of Maine's bounty of fresh local ingredients. More than enough reasons to visit Maine in the spring!

Portland's Old Port

Summer Sensations

There's a good reason Maine is known as "Vacationland."

All the ingredients for the perfect summer vacation are right here, waiting for you to cook up a plan. Start with a few days relaxing on a sandy beach, oceanside or by a sparkling lake. Make time for golf, sailing or biking. Take afternoon breaks for shopping or antiquing. Spice up your evenings with summer music festivals, art walks or fabulous meals at local restaurants. Cool off at a water park or head inland for whitewater adventures. Whatever your taste, a trip to Maine is a recipe for fun, with more than enough variety to satisfy all.

Reid State Park, Georgetown

Autumn Brilliance

Autumn in Maine is peak season for many favorite things. The landscape warms to spectacular foliage from the north woods to the craggy coastline. Farmers' markets, county fairs and harvest festivals celebrate Maine's homegrown bounty and rural traditions. Food and wine celebrations pay tribute to local culinary brilliance. And more lobsters are harvested from Maine's pure ocean waters than at any other time of the year, making them plentiful and affordable. The fall weather is ideal for hiking, bike touring or ATV riding. No wonder more people are discovering the pleasures of fall in Maine.

Stanley Pond, Porter

Winter Magic

Sure, some species hibernate during the colder months...but not Mainers. Instead, we make the most of our snow-covered landscapes—and we invite you to join in the fun. Our mountain resorts offer skiers and boarders some of the best skiing in the East. Snowmobilers have thousands of miles of interconnected, groomed trails to explore. The cross-country skiing is magnificent. There is snowshoeing, skating, ice fishing and so much more. And, as for indoor comforts, you'll warm to Maine's award-winning restaurants, inspiring arts and entertainment, fabulous local shopping, and relaxing inns, spas and slopeside retreats. This winter, experience more magical moments in Maine.

Come Play in Maine's Great Outdoors

There's nothing like a Maine vacation for outdoor fun! Spend some quality time on Maine's extensive coastal and inland waters. Try a guided sea kayaking expedition, a tranquil canoe trek around a lake, or a thrilling whitewater rafting trip. Hike or bike the mountain trails. Or pedal your way through the rolling countryside. Play 18 scenic holes of golf. Or explore Maine's interconnected ATV trails. Wildlife abounds, so be on the lookout for moose and eagles, whales and seals. Whatever recreational activity you choose, you're going to love Maine's recreational playground.

Hit the Trails. With over 1,000 miles of maintained hiking trails, you and your boots have plenty of places to explore. The Appalachian Trail is accessible from many points throughout the state, including Grafton Notch State Park, the Bigelow Preserve, and Baxter State Park, where you can hike to the summit of Mt. Katahdin, the northern terminus of the AT. The well-maintained paths of Acadia National Park reveal grand ocean views and are perennial favorites. The Mt. Agamenticus conservation region in York has an extensive shared-use trail system that is a natural draw for foot travelers. Many parks and public reserved lands, like Mt. Blue State Park and Cutler Coast, are popular for spectacular scenery.

Pick up a paddle. The canoe is a traditional mode of travel through the woods and waters of Maine. Kayaks have also become increasingly popular for freshwater use. Whatever craft you choose, Maine has a wealth of paddling opportunities. The Northern Forest Canoe Trail passes through Maine, giving canoe trekkers access to 347 miles of remote lakes and rivers. Guided trips on the Allagash Wilderness Waterway and St. John River are classic expeditions. The Moose, Machias and St. Croix Rivers offer leisurely paddling trips, with primitive campsites along the way.

Pedal a Bike. Maine and its rural byways, city streets and off-road trails are known for being bike-friendly. Cyclists can explore the beauty of the Sunrise County on 85 miles of the new Downeast Sunrise Trail. In the capital city of Augusta the Kennebec River Rail Trail is one of the most popular bike routes in the state. Bradbury Mountain State Park has miles of thrilling mountain biking on trails ranging from wide and easy to narrow and technical. Every summer bicyclists gather for the Maine Bike Rally – this year it's being held in Brunswick – for three fun days of organized rides.

The Maine State Parks Passport— Celebrating more than 75 years of outdoor heritage

Pick up a Maine State Parks Passport at one of our state parks or historic sites and begin a journey of discovery. The Passport serves as your guide to Maine's amazing natural treasures, providing information about 48 different parks and historic sites, plus an incentive to really get out and explore more. Collect stamps at each park facility and qualify for rewards—the more stamps you collect, the more cool stuff you get along the way.

For more information about the Maine State Parks Passport Program, visit www.parksandlands.com

Kayak the Islands. A great way to experience Maine's coast is by sea kayak, whether on your own or in the company of a guide. The islands off Stonington on the southern tip of Deer Isle are a haven for sea kayaking adventurers. The 375-mile Maine Island Trail extends from Kennebunkport to Machias, giving sea kayakers access to more than 180 islands and mainland sites. Enjoy many satisfying hours of paddling amid the islands of Casco Bay, the sheltered peninsulas of the Mid Coast and the pink granite sea cliffs of Mount Desert Island.

Run the Rivers. Maine is home to three world-class rafting rivers and more than a dozen outfitters offering the best guided rafting excitement in the East. There's something for everyone, from family float trips to thundering whitewater runs, plus riverside barbecues and cozy lodging. The Penobscot River has 12 miles of foaming rapids, including Exterminator, the Crib Works, and Nesowadnehunk Falls. Rafters on the Kennebec River will encounter the fun of Big Mama, Whitewasher and Magic Falls. And the Dead River offers 16 miles of nearly continuous whitewater, starting at Spencer Rips and finishing with a big splash at Lower Poplar Falls.

Watch for Wildlife. Found throughout the state, the venerable moose is Maine's most recognizable outdoor resident. For moose sightings take a guided moose safari and let a woods-wise expert lead you to the best viewing spots. Guided puffin watch cruises will take you to the remote offshore islands where the colorful Atlantic Puffin, with its clownish beak and comical ways, live in large colonies. And whale watch excursions depart from many ports along the coast. Follow the Maine Birding Trail to over 260 accessible sites where 330 bird species call Maine home for part or all of the year.

Get in the Swing. With more than 140 golf courses around Maine golfers have plenty of choices to match their budget, ability and style of play. Along the Maine Golf Trail you can play a friendly beginner course or test your mettle on the challenging links laid out by a world-class designer. Enjoy a leisurely 18 holes at historic Poland Spring Country Club, one of the oldest courses in the country, or tee off amid stunning mountain views at the championship Sugarloaf Golf Club. Wherever you choose to play – the variety is astounding – you're sure to enjoy a memorable round of golf.

Go ATVing. Over 6,000 miles of ATV trails give riders many options for motorized recreation with plenty of places to explore, get wet and dirty and have good fun. The Maine Highlands region is a hub of ATV riding activity, with a vast network of maintained trails connecting Greenville and Guilford to Bingham, The Forks and Jackman. These ATV-friendly towns provide the services to keep you going, like gas, groceries, restaurants and lodging. The annual ATV Jambo-ree in late summer draws riders from both sides of the border for a weekend of guided trail rides, races and mud riding.

Insider's Guide to Maine Parks & Beaches

Maine's outstanding scenic beauty is a natural treasure. Over a million acres of recreation lands capture the best of this amazing landscape of seashore, mountains and hills, lakes and rivers, salt marshes and bottomland, woods and fields, and the largest undeveloped swath of forestland remaining in the East. Beaches, state parks, nature preserves and public lands are a great place to start your Maine adventure, offering outdoor enthusiasts of all interests and abilities endless opportunities for year-round fun. The following is a sampling of the many different natural places that are open to the public in Maine's eight regions.

Kennebec & Moose River Valleys

Visit the Kennebec & Moose River Valleys region and paddle your canoe through the wilderness waters of Attean Pond in the Holeb public reserved land. Ride your bicycle on the historic Solon-Bingham Multi-Use Trail, a scenic old logging railroad bed along the Kennebec River. Lace up your boots and hike the Appalachian Trail to the craggy summit of Pleasant Pond Mountain for great views of the north woods. Travel back in time at Fort Halifax, a colonial outpost built by early English settlers and the oldest remaining blockhouse in the U.S.

Mid-Coast

Reid State Park in the Mid-Coast region is a popular spot for sunbathing, swimming, watching shorebirds and saltwater fishing. Follow the trails of Frye Mountain Wildlife Management Area near Belfast where deer and other small mammals abound in the upland forests and old farmlands. The Whaleback Shell Midden on the Damariscotta River will amaze you with its enormous thirty-foot deep pile of oyster shells discarded by Native Americans over a thousand-year period. Walk the quiet paths of Fernald's Neck Preserve along the pristine shores of Lake Megunticook in the Camden Hills.

Maine's Lakes & Mountains

The wide sandy beach and grassy promenade of Range Ponds State Park in Maine's Lakes and Mountains region are great for a leisurely day of swimming and picnicking. The Grafton Loop Trail traverses the mountainous terrain of the Mahoosuc public reserved land, providing day and overnight hiking. Bickford Slides in the Caribou-Speckled Mountain Wilderness of the White Mountain National Laudholm Farm is home to the Wells National Estuarine Research Reserve, a birders' paradise.

Reid State Park on the Georgetown peninsula is one of Maine's many scenic, sandy beaches.

Forest is a 90-foot series of cascades and a swimming hole accessed by an easy hike. Stroll through the woods along the placid Saco River at the Hiram Nature Study Area.

Greater Portland & Casco Bay

Just northwest of Portland, the miles of dedicated single-track trails of Bradbury Mountain State Park are a mountain biker's paradise. Take to the winding nature paths of Portland's Baxter Woods, perfect for a brief escape from the busy urban environs. Find your place in the sun at Scarborough Beach State Park stretching for over a mile on Casco Bay, or surf the waves at nearby Higgins Beach. Explore the farmland and forests of Pineland public reserved land, the home to wild turkeys and other birdlife.

The Maine Beaches

In a region known for its 30-mile expanse of dazzling white sand, there is no shortage of spectacular beaches from which to choose. Enjoy the sand and surf, as well as the restaurants and entertainment, in classic beachfront communities, from Kittery to Old Orchard Beach. Laudholm Farm is home to the Wells National Estuarine Research Reserve, Drake's Island Beach and seven miles of kid-friendly trails. For bird watching, flock to East Point Sanctuary with views of Biddford Pool and Wood Island Light. Historic Fort McClary on Kittery Point has occupied its important coastal location since 1689.

Arroostook County

In Arroostook County, climb the trails on Deboullie Mountain to the old fire tower, and fish for brook trout and landlocked salmon in the ponds of Deboullie public reserve land. Hike a section of the International Appalachian

Top. Stop along the Old Canada Road Scenic Byway (Route 201) for panoramic views of Attean Pond and the Holeb public reserve. Bottom. Trails up Bradbury Mountain offer great family hikes and rewarding views.

Trail to the summit ridge of Mars Hill, site of the whirling turbines of Maine's first commercial wind energy project. Plan a canoe trip to Maine's first state park, Aroostook State Park, encompassing Echo Lake and Quaggy Jo Mountain.

The Maine Highlands – Bangor • Katahdin • Moosehead Lake

The Katahdin Iron Works—Roach Pond Tract is a 63,000-acre property owned by the Appalachian Mountain Club in the heart of the Maine Highlands region, where visitors can hike and fish by day and stay overnight in cozy log cabins. The lakes and mountains of the Nahmakanta public reserved land offer unspoiled and crowd-free boating, hiking and camping. Sunning and swimming at the sand beach at Peaks-Kenny State Park is a relaxing way to enjoy the beauty of Sebec Lake.

DownEast & Acadia

The Downeast Sunrise Trail is the newest edition to the recreation scene in the DownEast & Acadia region, providing walkers, cyclists, ATVers and snowmobilers with 85 miles of outdoor fun along an abandoned railroad corridor. The Schoodic Peninsula of Acadia National Park is dominated by Schoodic Head, where a short hike rewards with panoramic views of Frenchmen's Bay. At Donnell Pond public reserved land, launch a motorboat for a scenic tour of Tunk Lake, a favorite spot for lake trout fishing. Lamoine State Park is a popular place for sea kayakers wanting to explore the narrows along Mount Desert Island.

Maine Invites You

To Fish!

Of Brookies and Bass and Grandsons. The 14-inch wild native brook trout took the first dry fly offered when I arrived at my favorite pool about a mile from the road in this cold free flowing north woods stream. The trout's stunning spawning colors erased any doubt that there is a God.

In recent years, Maine has stepped up protection of its native brookies, important when you understand that this state has 97 percent of all the remaining native brook trout in the United States.

Wading downstream to my favorite pool holding hundreds of spawning trout (I caught more than 50 in two hours), I'd been forced out of the stream at one point when three large river otters took a disliking to my presence.

They were more aggressive than the cow moose and calf I'd walked around at the point I entered the stream.

Not long before I'd driven to camp to enjoy this fall fishing experience, I'd taken my grandson to a favorite pond near my Mount Vernon home, just 20 miles from the State Capitol, to fish for smallmouth bass.

Six-year-old Addison sat in the front seat of the old aluminum canoe and cast a jig toward shore, working it back as skillfully as a professional bass angler, while his grandfather watched with a mixture of love, pride, and anticipation.

There! An eager bass grabbed the jig, Addi lifted the rod, the fish was on, the fish was up and out of the water!

"That's a huge fish Addison!" I exclaimed. And his smile told me that the public purchase of the land surrounding this pond in the Kennebec Highlands was a very wise decision.

Maine added two million acres in the last decade to its public lands inventory to make sure all of us have access to this state's amazing natural resources.

As a river angler, I've been blessed to fish magnificent rivers from Alaska to Montana to Quebec and Labrador. Maine's rivers are equally spectacular.

In July, I slipped my kayak into the Kennebec River just 15 miles above the capitol city of Augusta. The 47 smallmouth bass caught that morning were memorable, as were the two dozen Bald Eagles along the river.

Most astonishing – I didn't see another person! And this section of the river is so undeveloped you'd think you're in the Alaskan bush.

Waters all over the state draw my attention year-round, yet I remain true to my roots. Nothing pleases me more than a day on a small brook, catching brook trout. My first fishing experiences involved dunking worms into tiny brooks. Today I prefer to cast flies.

My favorite brook regularly gives up as many as 100 brookies in a half-day of fishing. Except for that day I waded a mile down the brook and got mixed up with a pair of mating bears. That called for a hasty retreat! No need to retreat if you're thinking of fishing here.

Who can raft?

Anyone who enjoys the outdoors and is looking for adventure can raft. You need not be a fitness fanatic or an Olympic Athlete. Maine rafts typically hold an eight person crew and a guide. To protect the environmental quality of Maine's rivers, the State limits the number of rafters each day.

What is included?

Outfitters provide transportation to and from their base facility to the rivers, life preservers, helmets and paddles, a pre-trip orientation and safety meeting, a ride down the river and a hearty, open grill meal. Most outfitters provide a slide or video show of your trip down the river at an "a prés-trip" party at base camp.

How much does it cost?

Prices for river trips vary based on the month, day of the week and number of people in your party. A one day trip on the Kennebec typically ranges from $80 to $120 per person. A day trip on the Penobscot $90 to $130 per person and on the Dead $90 to $140 per person. Packages including lodging or camping and other wilderness activities are available and each outfitter offers group rates.

When can we go rafting?

The season on the Penobscot and Kennebec begins in late April and ends in mid October. Controlled daily dam releases from hydropower dams on these rivers guarantee water levels throughout the season, even during the driest summers. There are seven high water releases of over 5,000 cfs on the Dead River in the Spring and Fall. Kennebec River Turbine Tests of 8,000 cfs are scheduled four times throughout the season.

Maine's Climate

MAINE ENJOYS a healthy, invigorating climate. Its overall weather conditions are a valuable asset to the state in that good air quality and moderate temperatures are conducive to productive labor and a principal factor in Maine's four-season vacation/travel industry.

Climatological Division. Maine is divided into three climatological divisions: Coastal, Southern Interior, and Northern Interior. The Coastal Division, which extends for about twenty miles inland along the length of the coast, is tempered by the ocean, resulting in lower summer and higher winter temperatures than are typical of interior zones. The Southern Interior Division extends in a longitudinal belt across the southern portion of the State, and encompasses about 30% of Maine's total area. The Northern Interior Division occupies nearly 60% of the State's area and has a continental climate. It is furthest from the ocean and contains the highest elevations.

Temperatures. Maine has one of the most comfortable statewide summer climates in the continental United States. Peak temperatures, normally occurring in July, average about 70°F throughout the State. In the Southern Interior Division during a very warm summer, temperatures may reach 90° for as many as 25 days, and in the Coastal Division, two to seven days. Summer nights are usually comfortably cool. Winters are generally cold, but very prolonged cold spells are rare. Northern Interior weather stations may record as many as 40 to 60 days of sub-zero temperatures annually, while coastal stations report 10 to 20 sub-zero days per year.

Precipitation. Annual precipitation in Maine averages 40 inches in the Northern Division, about 42 inches in the South and 46 inches in the Coastal Division. Although Maine is rarely subjected to ice storms, hurricanes and tornadoes, 10 to 20 thunderstorms occur annually in the Coastal Division and 15 to 30 elsewhere. Heavy ground fogs often appear in low-lying inland areas, but occur most frequently along the coast, for 25 to 60 days annually. The southern portion has 80 to 120 clear days per year when there is no fog or other precipitation, and northern regions somewhat less. The percentage of possible sunshine varies from 50% in Eastport to about 60% in Portland.

Average annual snowfall in Maine is 50 to 70 inches in the Coastal Division, 60 to 90 inches in the Southern Interior and 90 to 110 inches in the Northern Interior. The Coastal Division rarely has more than 15 to 20 days annually with snowfall of one inch or more, although a "Northeast" may occasionally drop 10 or more inches of snow in a single day. The Northern Interior may have up to 30 days a year with a minimum of one inch. January is normally the snowiest month, with an average of about 20 inches.

There's More To Maine

For generations, families up and down Maine's coast have made lobstering a way of life, harvesting millions of pounds of the authentic Maine crustacean that contributes so significantly to the state's economy. The lobster is one of Maine's most enduring icons—a symbol of both our fishing industry heritage and our world-renowned seafood. Today, modern lobster harvesters still operate in traditional ways, while leading the nation in conservation and sustainability practices, ensuring the future of a vital Maine industry.

Maine lobster

Maine's clean ocean waters produce the world's finest lobster. Enough said. Except to mention the incomparable sweet, succulent flavor of this famous Maine crustacean. And its surprising versatility, from casual lobster salad to elegant lobster bisque. And one mustn't forget the amazing creativity of Maine chefs where lobster is concerned. In fact, there's a lot more to be said about Maine lobster. Please read on!

There's more than one way to crack a Maine Lobster

For many, it just isn't summer without a trip to a lobster shack for a casual meal outside overlooking the sea. That combination of salt air, pounding surf, ocean vistas and fresh seafood is simply too good! But there are other less traditional ways to enjoy Maine lobster, too. Although the selection is always changing, here are some recent appearances on Maine restaurant menus. Grace in Portland serves a Lobster & Shrimp Hot Dog, and donates a dollar to the Gulf of Maine Research Institute for every "dog" sold. Arrows in Ogunquit, winner of a 2010 James Beard Award, has Lobster Shortcake on its menu (see sidebar). There's the Truffled Lobster Mac & Cheese at Portland's 555, the Grilled Skewered Lobster at Bar Harbor's Havana, and the signature Lobster Pizza at Blue Sky on York Beach. If you're headed away from the coast toward the Maine Highlands and Baxter State Park, try the lobster bisque at the River

Maine Lobster, Arrow's Style

By Mark Gaier and Clark Frasier, James Beard Award Winners, Best Chefs of the Northeast, 2010

Lobster Shortcake is one of our favorite ways to present lobster. We often serve it when we do Celebrity Chef's events around the country. Of course, almost everyone is thrilled to have lobster from Maine. It's always a surprise to people because the vibrant complex flavors contrast so well with the richness of the lobster. Over the years we've been quietly involved with promoting sustainability of our oceans. We work frequently with the Monterey Bay Aquarium, The Smithsonian Museum, and The Maine Lobster Council to promote a healthier marine environment. And we are very proud of the fact that Maine has always been on the forefront of protecting its fisheries. In fact the first regulations designed to protect our lobsters were implemented in the 1880s!

We always enjoy cooking with lobsters and over the last two decades we've had the privilege of meeting many of the lobster men and women who go out in all sorts of weather and adverse conditions to bring us this delicacy—fresh off the boat. And when the lobsters are cooked they have the most pure flavor.

Drivers Restaurant in Millinocket. These are but a few of the amazingly creative ways Maine's chefs find to serve up our most iconic ingredient.

The Classic Shack Experience

Still, you may want to start with the classic shack experience. Up and down the coast are countless weathered lobster shacks and casual eateries where a meal of fresh lobster, clams and other seafood, served on paper plates at picnic tables, is a time-honored tradition.

The lobster pound may be right next door. You can buy your lobsters and take them home—often they'll even steam them for you.

From bibs to crackers to melted butter, eating Maine lobster is a ritual like no other. On most menus you'll find the lobster "shore dinner," which usually includes at least red potatoes, fresh, Maine-grown corn-on-the-cob and often clams, boiled in the same salty water as your lobster and embellished with even more melted butter.

You'll find quintessential Maine lobster shacks everywhere you go, such as Bagaduce Lunch in Brooksville, winner of a coveted James Beard "American Classic" Award. Other classic shacks up and down the coast include Barnacle Billy's and the Ogunquit Lobster Pound, both in Ogunquit; Allen's Seafood and Takeout in Harpswell; Red's Eats in Wiscasset; Five Islands Lobster Company in Georgetown, and Docksider in Northeast Harbor. For many more places to enjoy Maine lobster, check out VisitMaine.com.

The Traditional Maine Lobster Bake

The Lobster Bake is another favorite tradition. Whether you do it yourself, or find one of Maine's many lobster bake companies to do it for you, it's an event made for the shore. In addition to lobsters, clams and mussels, corn on the cob, potatoes and sometimes even smoked Kielbasa, a key player is seaweed, layered between each ingredient, and lending a salty freshness to the meal. Check VisitMaine.com for lobster bake caterers who can put on an authentic Maine lobster feast for you.

Fall is Peak Season for Maine Lobster

Out of the nearly 80 million pounds of Maine lobster harvested annually, more is harvested during the fall than any other time of year. Restaurants take full advantage of lobster abundance by offering it in new and imaginative ways. And the prices at the lobster pound make it particularly affordable. A good place to learn more about the local lobster industry, history, recipes, and where to buy certified Maine lobsters, visit the Maine Lobster Council website at www.lobsterfrommaine.com.

Maine Made

Top. Thos. Moser furniture is famed for its Maine-inspired beauty and craftsmanship. Bottom. Follow the Maine Wine Trail to tasting rooms like this one at Cellardoor Winery. Right. Craft galleries like Abacus sell stunning work by Maine artisans.

Made-in-Maine products reflect a deep commitment to cultural heritage. The work of traditional folk artists, artisans and craftspeople is being preserved through apprenticeships, dedicated mentors, and support from communities throughout the state. A showcase for Maine's natural resources, materials and creativity, Maine made products offer a chance to give—or keep for yourself—an authentic piece of Maine.

Maine Inspired

Creativity & Craft

From Native American baskets to farm-made soaps, fine stoneware to jewelry made with tourmaline and seaglass, Maine offers up a rich landscape of handcrafted treasures and one-of-a-kind products. In a show of sustainable ingenuity, Portland's Sea Bags fashions custom tote bags from recycled sails, while others craft reclaimed barn boards, lobster traps, rope and gourds into home goods and conversation pieces. Glass blowers display their skills in numerous studios and shops, and you don't have to look far for Maine's acclaimed pottery. Start with Potter's House in Litchfield, Maine's Potters' Market in Portland, or Edgecomb Potters gallery and studio in Edgecomb.

Fiber artists, spinners and weavers make up another vital community. Cherished gifts of unmatched quality can be found at retail spots like Kingfield's Mainely Alpaca, where alpaca fur is transformed into sweaters and heirloom blankets. In Aroostook County, artisan craftspeople united to form the Made in Aroostook cooperative. Everything from metalwork and woodcrafts to artisan foods, snowshoes, photography and herbal remedies are available through their website and in local outlets like Deep in the Woods Gift Shop of Oxbow Plantation or Knot II Bragg Farm in Wade. Throughout the DownEast & Acadia region, and elsewhere in Maine, artisans sell handcrafted Balsam wreaths, centerpieces and Christmas trees locally and around the country.

In addition to Maine-inspired brands with national reputations — names such as L.L.Bean, Tom's of Maine, Thos. Moser, angela adams, Old Town Canoe, Jill McGowan and Lovell Designs — keep your eyes peeled for the many up-and-coming designers in Maine who produce everything from custom high-heels to art lamps, cat toys to Adirondack chairs. A rich sampling of merchandise exclusively from local craftspeople populates stores and craft centers, including Lisa Marie's Made in Maine in Bath and Portland, United Maine Craftsmen in Manchester, the gallery and folk arts school Top of Maine Wood Carvers in Limestone, Maine Crafts Guild in Westport Island, and the Center for Maine Craft in West Gardiner.

Gourmet Spirit

Maine's gourmet food and spirits producers frequently take advantage of the state's indigenous offerings. Maine Mead Works, for example, uses 100% Maine wildflower honey, while Cold River Vodka proudly utilizes Maine's potato harvest. Cellardoor Winery grows grapes particularly suited to Maine's climate; and Big Claw wine is designed to pair with Maine lobster — and a portion of the proceeds goes back to the lobster industry. Green Bee All-Natural Soda sweetens its brew with Maine honey, while South Casco's Blacksmith's Winery and Kennebec Cider Company use locally grown fruit.

The One Stop Shop for Maine Crafts

Q&A with Dr. Tracy S. Michaud Stutzman, Executive Director, Center for Maine Craft.

What is the Center for Maine Craft?

The Center is run by the Maine Crafts Association, a 25-year-old non-profit organization that helps Maine artists make a living at their craft. The Center has ongoing exhibitions of fine craft art, live artists demonstrating regularly, tourism information, and artist referral services, as well as the best selection of hand-made Maine craftwork for sale.

What will visitors find at the Center?

Handcrafted works of the highest quality, from over 350 juried artists, are on display and for sale. There is a huge variety, at varying prices, including pottery, glass, wood, jewelry, and metal utensils, t-shirts, fiber wearables and bags, children's toys, books, prints, cards, packaged foods (for humans and pets), and bath products.

What should buyers know about the treasures they are taking home?

With every purchase at the Center, visitors are taking home a special piece of Maine, supporting artists, and helping the MCA continue to preserve and encourage Maine craft.

The Center for Maine Craft showroom is located at the West Gardiner Service Plaza off I-295 and I-95 /Maine Turnpike.

Right. Freeport and Kittery are two of Maine's renowned outlet shopping destinations.

Bottom. Internationally known designer Angela Adams has her showroom in Portland.

Microbreweries flourish here (Maine ranks fourth in the nation for the number of breweries per capita), as do artisan chocolatiers like Black Dinali, Dean's Sweets, and Cacao Chocolates. You'll also find a delicious abundance of syrup makers, honey makers, saltwater taffy makers, whoopie pie bakers and producers of jams and jellies, including Nervous Nellie's and Stonewall Kitchen. Further culinary exploration will reveal such edible treasures as Oyster Creek Mushroom Company and DownEast Whelks, which produces pickled "wrinkles" – a distinctive sea trinket with the flavor of a clam.

A Diverse Shopping Landscape

Whether the shopping urge leads you to the outlets of Kittery, Freeport or Ellsworth, to bustling malls in South Portland or Lewiston/Auburn, or to historic downtown shopping districts in Portland, Bangor, Ogunquit and the Kennebunks, there is something for everyone here. Art galleries and museums, such as the Portland Museum of Art or the Farnsworth Art Museum in Rockland, present distinctive shopping opportunities as well, and a chance to commemorate the trip with a piece of Maine's art legacy. If you long for more challenging shopping terrain, Maine is antiques central. It's common to find antiques in traditional settings such as turn-of-the-century bars, taverns, and historic houses as you travel Route 1 or explore off the beaten track. Brunswick's Fort Andross boasts antique treasures alongside a multi-dealer flea market—no dedicated shopping day required.

Savor the Salt Air: Maine Windjammer Cruises

Sailing along the Maine coast aboard a windjammer is an adventure ruled by wind and influenced by tide. Named for their ability to “jam” into the wind, windjammer cruises allow guests to disconnect from technology and savor the riches of family and friends. It’s an experience that provides a close-up view of lobstermen hauling traps and seals sunning on ledges, winking lighthouses and clanging bell buoys, offshore islands and remote fishing villages.

Cruising through history

Seventy-five years ago, Frank Swift, an enterprising sea captain restored and retrofitted an old cargo schooner, then invited paying customers aboard to sail the Maine coast. Now, a dozen vessels are members of the Maine Windjammer Association, the oldest working fleet under sail in North America. Most are floating living-history museums, listed on the National Historic Register; some are new, purpose-built to carry passengers. They range in length from the intimate, 46-foot Mistress to the 132-foot, three-masted Victory Chimes, the largest sailing vessel under the U.S. flag; in age from the Lewis R. French, built in Camden in 1871, to the Heritage, built in Rockland in 1983. All homeport in Rockland or Camden, and all deliver an authentic experience, transporting guests not only along the Maine coast, but also back in time to the Great Age of Sail.

Where exhilaration meets relaxation

One of the ironies of windjamming is that there’s nothing to do, yet so much to be done. Some guests lounge on the deck, perhaps reading; others chat, cementing new friendships; a few scan the horizon with binoculars or cameras; and nearly everyone keeps an eye out for whales spouting, seals swimming, and other windjammers skimming across the ocean waters. The freedom from technology is liberating, the quiet soothing, the pace exhilarating, even when the wind barely whispers.

Clocks are of no use aboard a Maine windjammer; time is measured meal to meal, and days are measured in relation to the lobster feed, a highlight of every cruise. The aromas of bread baking, chowder simmering, dinner cooking waft from the galley, carried along on the same salt-laden breeze that fills the sails. The choral chores of raising and lowering the sails (also known as schooner aerobics or the armstrong method of sailing) keep appetites healthy, but one never goes hungry on a windjammer...sniff, sniff... brownies!

Windjammers sail by day, but at night, they cozy into a harbor and drop anchor, often ferrying passengers ashore to hike on a spruce-covered island, treasure hunt in ledge-cosseted tidepools, or poke about a genuine fishing village.

Sunsets are almost magical when viewed from a windjammer deck, and on a clear, moonlit night, the stargazing can be spectacular. Often captain, crew and guests will trade stories and share songs into the night. Slumber usually comes quickly, hastened by fresh salt air and encouraged by the rhythmic, gentle lapping of waves against the hull.

Maine Celebrates Windjammer Fleet's 75th Anniversary

An invitation from Meg Maiden of the Maine Windjammer Association.

1936. A time of jazz and swing, Gone with the Wind, and the invention of sun tan lotion and the electric blanket. In Maine, it marked the beginning of the windjamming trade—a new idea for vacationers who wanted to sail away on an adventure steeped in history.

For 75 years, Maine’s growing fleet of traditional windjammers has been offering guests a chance to get off the beaten path and explore anchorages ranging from bustling seaside communities to uninhabited islands and small fishing villages. From May to October, these 19th-century sailing ships provide three- to six-day trips that transport guests back to the golden age of sail where deadlines and itineraries take a back seat to relaxation and beauty. Together, they represent the country’s largest fleet of historic sailing ships.

To celebrate this historic 75th anniversary, the fleet will host numerous celebrations during the 2011 season including races, raft-ups and rendezvous. Visitors to Maine are warmly invited to join in the fun. For details on these special gatherings of the fleet, visit the Maine Windjammer Association’s website: www.sailmainecoast.com. You can also watch a Maine Windjammer video on VisitMaine.com.

Maine's Maritime Heritage

Wooden Boat School

Maine is an intrinsically maritime state with thousands of miles of coastline, thousands of islands, countless lakes, wide navigable rivers, protected harbors, and a rich tradition of boat building that dates back to pre-colonial times.

This maritime culture runs deep and visitors can experience the history as well as a thriving maritime economy in ways that exist nowhere else.

Boat building and shipbuilding

Historically, more wooden ships were built in Maine in the 19th century than in any other state. This industry is still an important part of Maine's culture and economy. Visitors can participate by taking boat-building classes at the Apprentice Shop in Rockland and the Wooden Boat School in Brooklin, among others. By arrangement with Maine Maritime Museum, tours are available of Bath Iron Works, where destroyers are built for the U.S. Navy, Washburn and Doughty, where tugs are built that work in harbors worldwide, and high-end recreational boat yards like Hodgdon Yachts. See why many people consider Maine-built boats to be the best in the world at Round Pond Harbor where an astounding number of traditional boats are moored for the summer.

Working Waterfront

Maine is among the few states where visitors can experience a working waterfront as an integral part of the community. Fishermen repair their nets in the heart of Portland's Old Port, fish and lobster are landed at Holbrook's Wharf in Harpswell and in Port Clyde, the mail boat that delivers mail and supplies to the calendar islands of Casco Bay welcomes passengers aboard. And, of course, the waters of Maine wouldn't look the same without the colorful lobster buoys bobbing on the surface.

Lighthouses and Forts

Maine has more than 60 lighthouses and many are national symbols such as West Quoddy Head Light at the easternmost point of the United States and Pemaquid Light featured on the Maine quarter. Several of them are accessible by land or by water on cruise boats or schooner trips. The importance of Maine's coastal economy can also be seen in the number of fortifications that were built from Kittery to Eastport during the colonial period and updated to serve as coastal defenses in WWI and WWII and are now accessible to visitors.

Maritime Arts

The maritime heritage of Maine influences nearly every aspect of life along the coast and this can be experienced through the art and music created here. Maine Maritime Museum in Bath and the Penobscot Marine Museum in Searsport present world-class collections of historic and contemporary maritime treasures. The Farnsworth Museum in Rockland, the Portland Museum of Art, and the Maine Historical Society show the impact of our maritime heritage on artists, writers, poets, and craftspeople. Traditional sea music festivals abound and contemporary musicians continue to find inspiration in coastal living.

Getting on the water

Many will say that the best way to experience Maine is from the water. For those who own a boat, the Maine Island Trails Association offers access to private islands and suggests safe harbors. Kayaks can be rented by the hour or the day to explore lakes, rivers, and the coast. Experience island life by taking a ferry ride to Monhegan Island, or sail on a schooner in Camden, Rockland, Boothbay Harbor, Bar Harbor, Eastport or Portland.

Arts & Culture

On the Trail of Great Art

The Maine Art Museum Trail is one route to follow, offering seven museums conveniently located within a day's drive of each other. The fine art aficionado will find world-class paintings, photography, sculpture, prints and other objects housed in architecturally notable venues. The art fare ranges from Abyssinian reliefs at the Bowdoin College Museum of Art to the prints of James McNeil Whistler at the Colby College Museum of Art to a wall-size canvas by the contemporary German painter Anselm Kieffer at the Portland Museum of Art.

Every period of American art, from the Hudson River School to cutting-edge installations, is represented on the Maine Art Museum Trail. Of course, there is a special focus on artists associated with Maine, with many of the masters of the past two centuries counted among them. The Bates College Museum of Art often showcases its collection of Lewiston native and American Modernist Marsden Hartley while the Ogunquit Museum of American Art draws on the remarkable roster of artists who have frequented its famed colony, from Charles Woodbury to Beverly Hallam. The Wyeth family stars at the Farnsworth Art Museum in Rockland. The University of Maine Museum of Art in Bangor has a reputation for mounting the very best in Maine photography, from Berenice Abbott to contemporary masters. In addition to highlighting work from their permanent collections, the seven museums host outstanding traveling exhibitions, including loan shows from fellow New England institutions.

Art Adventures

To add some travel adventure to the mix, consider visiting some of the state's more far-flung venues. The Monhegan Museum of Art, perched atop Lighthouse Hill, highlights the extraordinary heritage of one of Maine's most remote islands, inspiration for generations of artists, including Rockwell Kent, George Bellows and Edward Hopper. Farther downeast, the Tides Institute and Museum of Art in Eastport is dedicated to showcasing the artists of the region, including maritime Canada.

Heading inland, the visitor will find a wealth of out-of-the-ordinary offerings. In the western part of the state, the Rangeley Lakes Region Logging Museum presents the history of a Maine livelihood through displays, including Alden Grant's remarkable cycle of paintings depicting life in the logging camps. The L.C. Bates Museum in Hinckley mounts exhibitions related to the region as well as to its remarkable natural history collection, often inviting artists to interpret its holdings.

Outside Art

Renowned Maine art critic Carl Little offers suggestions on where to find public art as you travel around Maine.

Wending your way through Maine, keep an eye out for public sculpture. Maine boasts a bounty of "outside art," from Bernard Langlais's towering Indian in Skowhegan to Celeste Roberge's steel-strapped beachstone orb at the Jackson Laboratories in Bar Harbor.

According to the Maine Center for Creativity, the Sprague Energy tank farm in South Portland is the world's largest public art painting. Jaime Gili, a Venezuelan artist, won the Art All Around international design competition to paint 16 oil storage tanks.

Many libraries, schools and businesses feature sculpture commissioned through the Maine Arts Commission's Percent for Art program. Wade Kavanaugh's ingeniously sited picnic tables at Peaks-Kenny State Park on Sebec Lake are a recent Percent project.

This summer, the third annual Schoodic International Sculpture Symposium will bring national and international sculptors to DownEast Maine to create original works from native granite. Visitors are welcome to watch the chips fly and view the finished sculptures from past summers installed in area villages.

Last but not least, enjoy sculpture and flowers at the Coastal Maine Botanical Gardens in Boothbay. This splendid venue is one of the finest spots to view art outside.

Whatever direction you take during your Maine travels, art awaits. From city to village, from museum to coffee shop, from roadside to inside—at every turn, the visuals are there. The art road beckons.

... More to Discover

The visitor should expect to be surprised, by a multimedia display at the Institute of Contemporary Art at the Maine College of Art (ICA at MECA for short) in Portland or an exciting young artist debuting at the Center for Maine Contemporary Art in Rockport. You might encounter an exhibition of Stephen Pace's bold canvases at Fryeburg Academy's new arts center or an exhibition of Andy Warhol's photographs at the Reid Gallery at the University of Maine at Presque Isle. The annual invitational sculpture show at the University of New England Art Gallery or examples of the latest photography on display at the Maine Media Workshops in Rockport might catch the traveler's eye.

State of the Arts

Maine art venues have collaborated on a number of state-wide projects to highlight a particular medium, including prints and fabric. This year, more than 20 of Maine's fine art institutions are banding together to present "The Maine Drawing Project," a statewide homage to one of the foundations of visual art.

In the past several years a number of Maine cities, including Portland, Bath and Rockland, have established Friday Art Walks, held once a month. Festive and free, these moveable art feasts highlight the lively gallery scene, but also include open studios and special performances. People roam from place to place, greeting fellow art lovers, turning the streets into a community celebration of the arts.

With such a wealth of museums, galleries and creative expression all around, you might say life in Maine is art.

Maine Performs!

When you're ready to be entertained, Maine delivers with a bang. The difficulty isn't in finding live entertainment, it's in choosing between the many options available. From festival stage to historic opera house, Shakespearean theater to Oddfellows Hall, Maine's performing arts scene attracts world-class local, national and international talent. You might savor a symphony in the mountains or by the sea; take in a blues, folk or fiddle festival; catch a chamber music concert or revel in Vaudeville-inspired performances in a renovated barn. In Maine, you'll find international film festivals, renowned summer stock theater, world-class dance performances and so much more. How to decide? Go to VisitMaine.com/MainePerforms for event listings and information on Maine's many performing arts organizations. Download the Maine Performs brochure—and be inspired!

ArtWalk Maine

All across Maine, ArtWalks invite you to explore artist studios, galleries and businesses as you stroll through Maine's beautiful, walkable downtowns. More than eighty ArtWalks are held across Maine each year. Take a self-guided tour. Discover Maine's world-class art museums and visit intimate artist studios where you will find Maine's creative spirit alive and well and open for you. Evening ArtWalks can include swank receptions marking new gallery exhibits, street performances and pop studios showing work in progress. From small coastal communities to revitalized mills and buzzing sidewalks, you can find ArtWalks across Maine at ArtWalkMaine.org. Traditionally, ArtWalks are held monthly on Friday evenings; however, schedules vary so check ArtWalkMaine.org and make art a part of your trip to Maine.

Wedding Memories, Maine-Made

Views that stretch to the far horizon, lighthouses framed by crashing surf, sparkling lakes reflecting mountain peaks...Maine is tailor-made for a magical wedding! Every season opens to a backdrop of natural beauty, whether it is spring's fragrant flowers, summer's deep blue water, winter's enchanting snowy landscape, or fall's painted canvas of color. There is simply no location that offers such a variety of breathtaking venues for making memories.

Destination: Maine. Tell your guests, "It's in Maine!" and they will promptly RSVP to your wedding invitation. This is your chance to share the places you adore with the people you love.

Where else but Maine can you take a fishing boat to an island and celebrate the day with a classic lobster bake? Here, you can say, "I do" on a sandy, secluded beach or in front of historic lighthouses. You can seat your guests amidst the natural decorations of Boothbay's Coastal Maine Botanical Gardens or on the lawn of a lakeside B&B. You can exchange your vows on a Maine windjammer, or let the mountains near Bethel or Carra-bassett Valley frame your wedding photos.

Of course, your family and friends will want to linger a bit longer here, and sample all there is to do in this special place. With Maine as your destination, there is no end to the activities and adventures your friends and family will enjoy. From rafting trips to day hikes, golf outings to shopping excursions, your wedding may be just the excuse they need to take a Maine vacation.

Where to tie the knot? The good news is, Maine as a destination offers abundant, affordable choices, with a wide variety of settings and quality accommodations, giving you the flexibility to make your dream wedding a reality.

Formal weddings hit the height of elegance in a state where stone chapels, Victorian inns and luxury resorts evoke timeless traditions. Historic mansions and banquet halls can accommodate outsized celebrations. But you will also find many settings that are perfectly suited for intimate ceremonies. Several inns offer packages specially designed for non-traditional weddings, including vow renewals, second marriages and even elopements!

In the end, planning is the key to a perfect wedding day, and Maine innkeepers and caterers offer distinctive hospitality with a personal touch. Many provide on-site wedding coordinators who ensure that every detail, from food and flowers to music and photography, is well tended to. Local chefs will put their Maine touch on the occasion, too – blueberry martinis for the toast, a nautical-themed amuse bouche, or multi-tiered wedding cakes with a Maine wild blueberry jam filling.

Simply put, Maine is a magical wedding destination that's easy, convenient and affordable – it may be the second best proposal you'll ever have.

The Maine Way to Meet & Retreat

Where can you conduct a 150-seat meeting with a massive fin whale skeleton suspended above you? Engage in a group treasure hunt on the coast's harbor islands? Gather with colleagues in a stone house surrounded by spectacular gardens and the waters of Casco Bay? In Maine you can.

Work, Relax, Recharge. Known as a place to refresh your mind and renew your spirit, Maine is a state uniquely suited to corporate meetings, organizational retreats, and events. It owes this recognition as much to its inspiring beauty and as it does to its adventurous surroundings.

When both work and play are essential, the state excels as host to its business visitors. Maine inns, resorts and retreat centers welcome groups with special rates and conference packages to suit every need. The state's open spaces and natural settings nourish and recharge, while dynamic urban centers offer modern meeting facilities that cater to commerce and entertainment with plenty of after-hours fun. Rejuvenate with the amenities of a seaside resort and enjoy your downtime on the golf course, or choose a private estate overlooking beautiful Blue Hill Mountain to stir creativity. Tap the state's rich culinary scene and you'll access fresh, local food to sustain productivity throughout the day, then complete the evening with a catered lobster bake on the beach, or a gourmet meal from one of many of the state's award-winning chefs.

Escape & Explore. Groups and retreat attendees take full advantage of the Maine outdoors to gain new perspectives that reap rewards long after they have left. There are opportunities for collaboration and competition: a guided whitewater rafting trip down the thrilling waters of the Kennebec, Penobscot or Dead Rivers can further team building skills along with paddling skills; a boatbuilding challenge fosters fun, engagement and connection; fishing and whale watching excursions offer memorable moments shared by all. And across the region, cottages and cabins offer a summer camp-like change of scenery that keeps the action and camaraderie in full swing, on the water or on land.

First-Class Venues. For larger functions, gatherings and galas, formal ballrooms, banquet halls and conference spaces located in some of Maine's most spectacular locations open their doors and offer top-notch event planning services. You'll find state-of-the-art facilities and experienced staff at Maine's many first-class resorts, conference centers, inns, and hotels. Meeting facilities are available in surprising places, too—think art museum, marine research institute, even a ferry terminal—offering dramatic views and stimulating surroundings.

Catering departments orchestrate outstanding service, and knowledgeable on-site meeting planners ensure that technology requirements, such as high-speed internet and audio-visual equipment, are ready and waiting—so you can focus on a smooth, productive and enjoyable experience.

Plan your next meeting, event or retreat in Maine with the help of VisitMaine.com.

Winter blankets Maine with sparkling snow usually from December through March, so you can plan on taking part in your favorite outdoor activities, from skiing, snowboarding and snowshoeing to snowmobiling, skating and sledding. Maine communities offer winter-themed special events and carnivals throughout the season, so there are always fun things to do for the entire family. And at day's end, head inside and experience Maine's legendary hospitality at fine restaurants, pubs, cozy inns and B&Bs.

The Maine Way to Winter

Alpine Skiing

Abundant snowfall, powerful snowmaking, impeccable grooming, high-speed lifts and 575 trails and glades across thousands of acres of mountain terrain assure skiers and snowboarders of lots of winter excitement for all interest and abilities. Enjoy the big mountain resort experience at Sunday River, Saddleback and Sugarloaf, home to the new Brackett Basin and 270 acres of challenging tree-studded glades. Mid-size mountains Shawnee Peak and Mt. Abram provide great family skiing and amenities at a slower pace. Local community areas offer a friendly downhill experience for ages. Celebrate springtime with great skiing, warm sun and a variety of musical entertainment at Sugarloaf's classic Reggae Festival and the colorful Parrot Head Festival at Sunday River.

Nordic Skiing

More than 550 miles of groomed cross-country ski trails at 23 Nordic touring centers offer classic and skate skiers plenty of opportunities to glide away into the quiet beauty of the winter woods. Experience a unique overnight or multi-day backcountry adventure, skiing from hut-hut on the Maine Huts & Trails system or from lodge-to-lodge in the 100-Mile Wilderness on Appalachian Mountain Club trails. Have your gear shuttled ahead to your cozy accommodations, where you'll enjoy a crackling fire and a hearty meal. The Tenth Mountain Ski Center in Fort Kent and the Nordic Heritage Center in Presque Isle are hosts for the exciting World Cup Biathlon competitions back-to-back this winter. Witness amazing athletes combine the aerobics of cross-country skiing with rifle marksmanship.

Snowmobiling

When the snow piles high, the volunteers of Maine's nearly 300 snowmobile clubs get to work on our extensive 14,500 miles of interconnected, groomed and marked snowmobile trails. Enjoy incredible local and long distance riding with unbeatable natural scenery and a network of snowmobile-friendly towns along the way offering welcome services. Sledding festivals, like the Snowmobile Snodeo in Rangeley (January), the Polar Blast Festival (February) in Eustis and the International Snowmobilers Festival in Madawaska (February), are fun for the whole family with races, group rides and plenty of food and entertainment.

More ways to go on the snow

For a unique Maine adventure, try a guided dog sledding trek and spend a memorable time mushing a harnessed dog team across a frozen pond amid grand mountain views. At the Maine Lakes Mushers Bowl, a popular winter carnival in Bridgton, you can hop aboard a musher's sled and ride along with the dog team. Snow tubing is also popular. Visit a snow tubing park for lots of family fun and laughter sliding down the frozen hills on an inflatable tube. Or, strap on your snowshoes and hit the winter trails, looking for animal tracks and listening for birds as you float on top of the snow.

You'll find more information about winter festivals and events, guided adventures and winter outdoor sports outfitters at VisitMaine.com.

When the Ice is nice

Ice fishing is a Maine winter tradition! Bundle up and join friends and a guide in pursuit of salmon, trout, pickerel and bass. Get into the competitive spirit at the Maine Chevrolet Derby at Sebago Lake in Raymond where you can fish for big prizes and enjoy snowmobile races, a polar dip and ice shack contests. Many Maine communities clear their frozen lakes and ponds for public ice skating and pickup ice hockey games. Rent a pair of skates and glide across the ice on an outdoor rink or indoor arena.

The U.S. National Toboggan Championships
February 11-13,
Camden Snow Bowl

Snow-covered sledding hills abound in Maine, but for official sledding excitement head for the Camden Snow Bowl and the Jack Williams Toboggan Chute, a 400-foot wooden run built in 1936. During February, the site hosts the U.S. National Toboggan Championships, an adrenaline-filled weekend that includes sledding competitions, food, music and fun for the whole family. Open to the public, you can enter your own toboggan team into the races or simply cheer on the wild riders from slopeside. Rent a toboggan or bring your own and enjoy a thrilling ride down the icy chute out onto Hosmer Pond, where you'll travel up to a quarter mile before slowing to a stop. A true winter thrill. To register visit the Camden Snow Bowl website at camdensnowbowl.com.

Mid-Coast Region

The scenic bays, craggy peninsulas and sparkling off-shore islands form a stunning backdrop to Mid-Coast Maine's picture-perfect fishing villages, seaside resorts and bustling harbor towns. Delve deeply into Maine's maritime past, watch whales and puffins, explore by bike or sea kayak and dine on world-class seafood. Here, arts and culture flourish amidst the romance of the sea.

Lobster boats, Port Clyde

1. The North Atlantic Blues Festival brings nationally known musicians to Rockland for two blues-filled days in July. 2. Explore the waters off the Mid-Coast on a whale-watching expedition, a deep-sea fishing excursion or a puffin tour to Eastern Egg Rock or Seal Island. 3. Artists have been coming to Monhegan Island since the 19th century, drawn to the spectacular beauty of this special place. 4. Tour the 1809 Blockhouse at Fort Edgecomb Historic Site, perched on the highest point overlooking the Sheepscot River.

Insider's Guide

Brunswick, home to Bowdoin College, is Maine's oldest college town. Browse the many shops, restaurants and galleries along Maine Street and visit the outstanding Bowdoin College Museum of Art. Catch music on the mall Wednesday evenings during the summer. And hop on the Androscoggin River Bike Path.

Bath is the perfect place to explore the region's boatbuilding heritage. Visit the Maine Maritime Museum. See what's happening at the Chocolate Church Arts Center. And head down the Phippsburg Peninsula to spectacular Popham Beach and historic Fort Popham.

Arrowsic and Georgetown are picturesque villages along Route 127 where you'll find scenic salt marshes, art galleries and pottery studios. Picnic at Reid State Park, with sweeping views of islands and lighthouses. Stop for fresh-caught Maine lobster at Five Islands.

Boothbay Harbor is a popular tourist destination and a great place for kayaking, whale watching, sport fishing or puffin tours. Stay in a cottage along the shore and make a day trip to the Boothbay Railway Village or the magnificent Coastal Maine Botanical Gardens.

In Damariscotta and Newcastle, you'll find 19th century storefronts filled with shops, restaurants and galleries. Check out the events (and ice cream) at Round Top Center for the Arts, taste world-class locally cultivated oysters and discover enormous prehistoric shell mounds.

Rockland's lively arts and culture scene includes the world-class collections at the Farnsworth Art Museum and the Wyeth Center. Stop by the Puffin Project Visitor Center and Maine Lighthouse Museum. Ferry out to Vinalhaven, North Haven or Matinicus. Discover award-winning restaurants.

Camden is a classic harbor town, filled with quaint inns and B&Bs and framed by the magnificent Camden Hills. Hike or drive up Mt. Battie and then relax in a harborside pub overlooking windjammers and fishing boats. Make a side trip to the charming arts community of Rockport.

In Belfast, stroll along the harbor from Heritage Park; encounter interactive street sculptures, art galleries, boutiques, restaurants and historic homes. Take an afternoon cruise on the Friendship Sloop Amity. In nearby Searsport, visit the Penobscot Marine Museum.

National Geographic Adventure named Rockland one of the Top 100 Best Adventure Towns in the US in 2009!

Maine's Mid-Coast islands can cast a spell, captivating visitors with their expansive views and relaxed pace. Intoxicating fragrances of pine and wild roses permeate the salt-laden air; raspberries and blackberries flourish in seaside meadows; the surf pounds the shore like a mesmerizing mantra.

Hundreds of islands dot the waters from northern Casco Bay through Muscongus Bay and into the famed sailing waters of Penobscot Bay. Hardy souls follow the Maine Island Trail, kayaking or sailing to remote islands to camp, picnic or just explore. Other islands are accessible by ferry or excursion boat and easily explored on foot or by bicycle. These are perfect for a day trip or an overnight: Just be sure to make lodging reservations in advance, as accommodations are limited. A few islands, like Orrs, Bailey, Southport and Westport, are connected to the mainland by bridge, allowing you a taste of island life without boarding a boat.

The Maine State Ferry Service operates several daily trips to Vinalhaven and North Haven from its Rockland terminal as well as occasional trips to distant Matinicus. All three are easily explored on foot or bicycle. It's a 10-minute walk from the Vinalhaven dock to Carvers Harbor, the island's busy village, where you can pick up an island map at one of the shops or restaurants, then set out for a picnic on Lane's Island Preserve. Visit the Historical Society Museum to learn about the island's rich granite quarrying and carving history. Bicyclists can make an easy loop around the southern part of the island, perhaps stopping for a swim at either Booth's or Lawson's Quarry, to hike Isle-Au-Haut Mountain or for a picnic at State Beach. North Haven is much more quiet and exclusive. Matinicus is favored by bird-watchers.

Islesboro, a 20-minute ferry ride from Lincolnville Beach, requires a car or bicycle. Begin at the Sailor's Memorial Museum, just off the ferry dock at the base of Grindle Point Light, then head south through Dark Harbor, a summer colony, where magnificent waterfront mansions can be glimpsed through the trees. Have a picnic on the beach at Pendleton Point, then head north toward Pripet Harbor, where most of the island's year-round residents live. On the way, visit the Islesboro Historical Society.

Monhegan, 510 acres of rugged independence and spectacular scenery, is accessible by passenger boats from Port Clyde, New Harbor and Boothbay Harbor. Many artists, including the Wyeths, Rockwell Kent and George Bellows, have recorded Monhegan's dramatic vistas—surf exploding on jagged cliffs, fish houses perched on the village shore, towering evergreens in Cathedral Woods, and the lighthouse, which greets all comers with a friendly wink. The keeper's and assistant keeper's houses are now museums, one dedicated to Monhegan art, the other to the island's history, flora and fauna. Wander the 17 miles of trails, see artists at work, watch for birds and drink in the beauty.

See Life!

MAINE'S MID COAST

Ahhh...just got back from a great week in MidCoast Maine. It was the perfect way to escape the heat! It was close and affordable and we felt like we were worlds away!

Oh my gosh I love Maine! What did you do?

We spent a lot of time at the beach. Three beautiful sandy beaches to be exact. We kayaked on a lake, went fishing, hiking and whale watching, took a ferry out to one of the islands, biked around and swam in the quarry. We saw eagles and loons and a SEAL! We went to some great museums and did some shopping. Wait till you see some of the great Maine-made things I found!

Lobsta?

So much Lobster! On the dock right out of the traps! There are so many great restaurants in MidCoast Maine. We ate well every night. Tons of farmer's markets. We are definitely going back next year.

I want to go, too! Do you have a good reference for more info?

Mainesmidcoast.com/blog. Great travel journal with inside tips on food and fun ways to spend time in the MidCoast!

Maine's Lakes & Mountains Region

With its spectacular mountain ranges, hundreds of glacial lakes and interesting, creative communities, Maine's Lakes & Mountains draw outdoor adventurers, wildlife watchers, foliage lovers and history buffs alike. In the fall, the vistas are stunning along the region's many scenic byways. And in the winter, this region is a paradise for skiers, snowboarders and snowmobilers!

Skiing at Saddleback Maine resort in Rangeley

1. The Appalachian Trail crosses Route 17 at the Height of Land, offering one of Maine's most stunning views of lakes and mountains. 2. Drift high above the Androscoggin River at the Great Falls Balloon Festival, held each August in Lewiston/Auburn. 3. Bring the family aboard the Songo River Queen for a leisurely cruise on Long Lake in the Naples area. 4. Brilliant foliage and spectacular golf combine to make a trip to Sugarloaf and other golf resorts in this region a must for fall.

Maine's Lakes & Mountains

WesternMaine.org

Insider's Guide

Lewiston and Auburn, twin cities on either side of the Androscoggin River, form a lively arts community. Learn about Maine's manufacturing heritage at Museum L/A; visit the Bates College Museum of Art; and take a walk through Thorncrag, New England's largest private bird sanctuary.

Naples, with its bustling lakeside Causeway, is a recreational hub. Bring the kids to Sebago Lake State Park. Cruise Long Lake on the Songo River Queen II, a replica of a Mississippi Paddle Wheeler; go antiquing in nearby Bridgton. Hike, bike or ski the trails at Shawnee Peak.

In Fryeburg, you'll find 11 buildings on the National Historic Register. Canoe or kayak the Saco River. Vacation on nearby Kezar Lake. And discover one of Maine's most scenic drives along Route 113 through Evans Notch, with views of the White Mountains.

Bethel offers four-season activities, from golfing, hiking, fishing and biking to skiing at nearby Sunday River and Mt. Abram Resorts. Paddle the Androscoggin River. Explore Grafton Notch State Park with short walks to Screw Auger Falls, Mother Walker Falls and Moose Cave. Take in a concert on the Bethel Commons and visit the Artist's Covered Bridge in Newry.

In the River Valley town of Rumford, you'll find dramatic Pennacook Falls, Maine's longest drop at 180 feet. Visit Lovejoy Covered Bridge in Andover. In winter, don't miss Black Mountain, one of Maine's finest family winter sports facilities.

Rangeley Lakes National Scenic Byway along Route 17 takes you to the Height of Land with its panorama of mountains, forests and the Rangeley Lakes. This is recreation central: sport fishing, hiking, canoeing, snowmobiling, skiing at Saddleback, and spectacular fall foliage.

Between Eustis and Kingfield, the beautiful Carrabassett River winds its way through the mountains. Fish in Flagstaff Lake. Go snowmobiling in Eustis. Hike the majestic Bigelow Range. Hit the trails or golf course at Sugarloaf ski resort in Carrabassett Valley.

Farmington, home of the University of Maine Farmington, is a lively college town. Check out the fascinating artifacts at the Nordica Homestead. Explore Mount Blue State Park in Weld, where you can swim in Webb Lake or pan for gold on the Swift River.

Rangeley was selected as one of America's Best Summer Lake Towns of 2010, by Budget Travel online magazine. Bethel has been named #2 Foliage Town in New England by Yankee Magazine.

"Don't Miss" Fairs & Festivals

Bethel Winterfest	Bethel	Jan.
Maine Blues Festival	Naples	June
Logging Museum Festival Days	Rangeley	July
Wilton Blueberry Festival	Wilton	Aug.
Great Falls Balloon Festival	Lewiston/Auburn	Aug.
Bethel Harvestfest & Chowdah Cookoff	Bethel	Sept.
Fryeburg Fair	Fryeburg	Oct.

So Much More to Do...

- Experience 19th century rural life at Washburn-Norlands Living History Center in Livermore.
- Go gem sluicing in West Paris or Bethel.
- Explore Rangeley's outdoor sporting history and traditions at the Rangeley Outdoor Sporting Heritage Museum.
- Paddle part of the Northern Forest Canoe Trail from Rangeley Lake to Spencer Stream.
- In Kingfield, visit the Stanley Museum, celebrating the inventor of the "Stanley Steamer."
- Visit the Shaker Village at Sabbathday Lake in New Gloucester.

Rangeley Lakes Maine

Natural. Wild. Beautiful.

Rangeley Aerial by Nick Leadley

Simply Marvelous, Simply Rangeley!

Discover the natural beauty of the Rangeley Lakes Region in the heart of Maine's Western Lakes and Mountains. Enjoy pristine wilderness where a four season cycle of wild beauty is a way of life.

Fly-fish the legendary Kennebago for native brook trout;

Watch loons while gliding silently across Rangeley Lake in a kayak or canoe;

Hike a nature trail to beautiful Angel Falls for a picnic;

See magnificent moose in a field of lupine wildflowers;

Thrill in the beauty of a fall foliage panorama overlooking Mooselookmeguntic Lake on the Rangeley Lakes National Scenic Byway;

Ski or snowboard down 2000 vertical feet at Saddleback mountain;

Ride over 150 miles of groomed snowmobile trails;

Nordic ski or mountain bike on an extensive network of mapped four-season trails;

Enjoy dining by a cozy fire or candlelight;

Relax in inviting accommodations.

Greater Portland & Casco Bay

Greater Portland & Casco Bay

A cruise ship lights up Portland Harbor

The historic seaport of Portland, Maine's largest urban area, is perched on sparkling Casco Bay with its many accessible islands and surrounding coastal communities. This region is as celebrated for its vibrant arts and entertainment scene as it is for its walking and biking trails; as renowned for its local cuisine as for its access to outdoor adventures. Creative, exciting, happening, fun—it's all here.

Portland Head Light

1. Got the urge to shop at 3 AM? L.L.Bean in Freeport is open 365 days a year! 2. Named "America's Foodiest Small Town" by Bon Appetit in 2009, Portland is a great place for creative cuisine and world class seafood. 3. Explore the Casco Bay Islands via ferry, part of Portland's public transportation system. 4. Cobblestone streets and Federal style architecture distinguish Portland's historic Old Port shopping and dining district.

Greater Portland & Casco Bay

Insider's Guide

Portland's Waterfront bustles with activity, as it has for centuries. Walking trails, trolley tours, scenic bay cruises, lobster boat rides, historic schooners and island ferries all start here! Enjoy the many pubs and seafood restaurants. And walk the Eastern Prom Trail for stunning bay views.

The Old Port is a lively shopping district with cobblestone streets, boutiques, galleries and restaurants in renovated Federal style buildings. Stroll up Exchange Street, then head toward Monument Square for seasonal Farmers' Markets and the childhood home of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

The Arts District, anchored by Portland Museum of Art, is filled with galleries, antique shops, studios and performance venues clustered around Congress Street. Visit the Children's Museum of Maine, and don't miss First Friday Art Walks.

Portland Freedom Trail marks 16 historically significant locations in the city. Take a self-guided tour to learn about Maine's part in the abolitionist movement.

Casco Bay and the Calendar Islands are Greater Portland's playground. Take a ferry to Peaks Island or cruise to Eagle Island to visit the summer estate of arctic explorer Admiral Peary. Explore by kayak or sailboat, or relax on a sunset cruise around the harbor.

Cape Elizabeth is home to Portland Head Light, Maine's oldest and much-photographed lighthouse at Fort Williams Park. Visit Two Lights State Park for the view and a lobster roll. Head for sand and surf at Crescent Beach State Park or the beaches in nearby Scarborough.

South Portland sits across the harbor from Portland. This artsy town is known for its restaurants, bakeries, theaters and galleries. Visit Spring Point Light, at the end of a granite breakwater and fly a kite at Bug Light Park.

Freeport, home of world-famous L.L.Bean, is a charming town with retail shops, factory outlets, restaurants, summer concerts and winter festivals. Take a shopping break and hike along the coastal trails at Wolfe's Neck Woods, keeping an eye out for osprey and eagles. Or discover a truly unusual phenomenon, the Desert of Maine!

Portland was rated #1 Best "Adventure" Town in the East by Outside Magazine, 2010

"Don't Miss" Fairs & Festivals

So Much More to Do...

- Tour the Portland Observatory, the only remaining historic signal tower in the U.S.
- Stroll the nature trails at Gilsland Farm Audubon Center in Falmouth or explore the marsh at the Scarborough Marsh Audubon Center.
- Take a Greater Portland Landmarks self-guided walking tour of Portland's four major historic districts.
- Eat! Portland was named America's "foodiest" small town by Bon Appetit magazine.
- Reserve your tickets for the symphony and the theater, or how about a semi-pro baseball, basketball or hockey game?
- See the world's largest revolving globe at Delorme headquarters in Yarmouth.

The Maine Beaches Region

The Maine Beaches

30 miles of sandy beaches

Up and down Maine's southern coast are quintessential beach communities and 30 miles of dazzling white sand. Lighthouses dot the shore; luxury resorts and inns share stunning views with beachfront cottages and lobster shacks. And recreation abounds, from swimming, surfing and sailing, to kayaking, hiking, biking and golf. Bird watchers, art lovers and seafood connoisseurs find many reasons to return, year after year.

Old Orchard Beach

1. The nationally recognized Ogunquit Museum of American Art showcases American art from the 19th century to the present, drawing on Ogunquit's art colony heritage.
2. Take a break from the sand and surf to visit the Kittery Outlets on Route 1, with more than 120 name-brand stores in which to shop 'til you drop.
3. For musical theater at its best, see a show at the historic Ogunquit Playhouse, which has been delighting audiences since the 1930s.
4. View picturesque Cape Neddick Light—"The Nubble"—from Sohler Park in York Beach.

The Maine Beaches

SouthernMaineCoast.org

Insider's Guide

Kittery, Maine's oldest settlement, offers shoppers more than 120 outlets along Route 1. But don't miss old Kittery's cobblestone streets, historic architecture, quaint pubs and antique shops. Enjoy the beautiful sandy beaches and stunning Atlantic Ocean views.

York is America's oldest chartered city. Enjoy miles of beautiful beaches, food, shopping and outdoor fun. Leave time for the Museums of Old York and the Old Gaol—the nation's oldest jailhouse—and picturesque Cape Neddick "Nubble" Light.

South Berwick on the Piscataqua River is home to historic homes such as the Sarah Orne Jewett House. Try the local wine from Salmon Falls Winery or hike in Vaughn Woods State Park. Nearby is Mt. Agamenticus Conservation Region with hiking and biking trails.

Ogunquit, an early 20th-century art colony, is a year-round resort town. Stroll along Marginal Way, visit the Ogunquit Museum of American Art, enjoy the boutiques, galleries and cafes in Perkins Cove, and along Shore Road and Main Street, and relax on Ogunquit Beach, named "best beach in New England" by New England Cable News.

Wells has four sandy beaches and stunning natural conservation areas. Bird watch along the salt marshes of the Rachel Carson Wildlife Refuge. Hike in the Wells Reserve at Laudholm. Enjoy four seasons of outdoor recreation, shopping and fine dining.

The Kennebunks—Kennebunk, Kennebunkport, Arundel and Cape Porpoise—offer arts, entertainment and pristine beaches. Visit historic homes like the Nott House. Drive by the Bush presidential retreat at Walker's Point. Shop, dine and gallery hop in Dock Square.

Biddeford and Saco are sister cities. Investigate the Dyer Library/Saco Museum. Shop along Main Street and visit the brewpub on Saco Island. Canoe the Saco River or discover the beaches at Biddeford Pool, Fortunes Rocks, Camp Ellis and Ferry Beach State Park.

Old Orchard Beach has seven miles of sandy beach, Palace Playland oceanfront amusement park, a century-old Pier, weekly fireworks and nightly entertainment. Add shopping, dining, golf, fishing, campgrounds and saltwater marsh canoeing.

In 2010, Old Orchard Beach Pier & Boardwalk was named among "America's Best Boardwalks" by Travel + Leisure.

WAVES OCEANFRONT RESORT

On the Ocean...Old Orchard Beach, Maine

As close as you can get to Maine's best beach. The Waves Oceanfront Resort is directly on Old Orchard Beach's 7 mile long white sandy beach.

Walk from your room onto the sand to swim, stroll in the surf, hunt for shells or just relax and enjoy the view. All rooms include kitchenette, air-conditioning, CCTV and access to our beachfront pool and state-of-the-art fitness center. Many rooms offer spectacular ocean views, balconies and/ or decks.

For fun and excitement we are an easy walk to the famous Old Orchard

Pier, a fixture on the beach since 1898. The Pier and amusement park are the centerpiece of downtown Old Orchard Beach for family fun.

More adventure is only a short drive away. Several amusement parks, water parks, whale watch and lobster boat tours, deep-sea fishing excursions, golf courses, museums, shopping outlets, and many other coastal attractions.

Enjoy your Old Orchard Beach vacation as millions have for over 200 years! Call today to make your reservation for fun in the sun.

Aroostook County Region

Aroostook, the state's largest and northernmost county, is known to Mainers simply as The County. With more than 2,000 lakes, streams and ponds, the vast unspoiled Allagash Wilderness Waterway and the mighty St. John River, Aroostook is a recreational paradise. It's also home to a diverse mix of welcoming cultures and communities, inviting you to discover the proud "Crown of Maine."

Fiddlers at the Acadian Festival in Madawaska

1. The Maine Winter Sports Center's facilities offer miles of world-class cross-country skiing trails. 2. The world's largest three-dimensional scale model solar system spans from the University of Maine's Presque Isle campus to the Maine Visitor Center in Houlton. 3. The Fort Kent Blockhouse dates back to the Aroostook War of 1838-39. 4. Experience the unique cultures of Aroostook County's Native American tribes during annual celebrations such as the Acadian Festival in August and the Wapiti Pow Wow in July.

Insider's Guide

Maine's "Million Dollar View," between Danforth and Orient, affords breathtaking views of Peek-a-boo Mountain and Mt. Katahdin to the west, and magnificent lakes to the east.

In Houlton, browse historic Market Square District and visit nearby Oakfield Railroad Museum with its restored Victorian Train Station.

Aroostook State Park, Maine's first state park, has everything: hiking on Quaggy Jo Mountain, trout fishing in Echo Lake, access to groomed trails for snowshoeing, cross-country skiing and snowmobiling, four-season camping and more.

Presque Isle is the start of a fascinating scale model of the solar system that stretches along Route 1 to Houlton. Aviation buffs shouldn't miss the Presque Isle Air Museum.

Fort Fairfield's Aroostook Valley Country Club on the Canadian border offers golfers a unique two-nation experience. Caribou is your gateway to an 80-mile chain of rivers and lakes for salmon and trout fishing. And be sure to visit the Ashland Logging Museum.

The St. John Valley is where French Acadian history and culture come alive. Visit the Acadian Village in Van Buren and the Tante Blanche Museum in Madawaska and tour the historic 1839 Blockhouse in Fort Kent.

The North Maine Woods draws adventurers to its 3.5 million acres of undeveloped wilderness, primarily stretching west of Route 11. Plan a guided canoe trip through the 92-mile chain of lakes, ponds and rivers that forms the Allagash Wilderness Waterway.

The County offers 2,300 miles of groomed snowmobile trails and 1,200 miles of contiguous ATV trails with lodging and dining establishments along the way.

Aroostook County is host to world-class Nordic skiing and Biathlon events including the North American Biathlon 2011 World Cup Tour in February! The Nordic Heritage Center in Presque Isle and the 10th Mountain Lodge in Fort Kent offer miles of groomed trails for Nordic skiing, hiking and biking.

Insider's Guide

Bangor is the historic and cultural hub of the region. Revisit the city's proud logging heritage at the Maine Forest and Logging Museum. Bring the kids to the Maine Discovery Museum. Explore the Wabanaki Arts Center in Old Town. And visit nearby Orono, home of the University of Maine.

Peaks Kenny State Park in Dover-Foxcroft is the ideal picnic spot, nestled in the mountains along the shores of Sebec Lake, with scenic views of Borestone Mountain. Camp, hike, swim or fish for landlocked salmon and lake trout.

Greenville is perched on spectacular Moosehead Lake, Maine's largest – 40 miles long and 20 miles wide! Enjoy Greenville's many welcoming inns, cabins and B&Bs, hike Mt. Kineo, which towers 700 feet in the midst of the lake, or visit beautiful Lily Bay State Park. In winter, hit the trails for a world-class snowmobiling adventure.

Katahdin Iron Works, near Brownville Junction, is where you'll find Gulf Hags, the "Grand Canyon of the East," with its numerous waterfalls, well-marked hiking trails and wild landscapes. One of Maine's finest day trips.

The Moosehead and Katahdin areas can be explored with the help of The Great Maine Woods and Waters Tour, which includes interpretive signage and more than 50 waterfalls in Piscataquis County.

The Penobscot River is the longest of three Maine rivers renowned for whitewater rafting and flows almost in the shadow of Mt. Katahdin. Plan an unforgettable guided adventure on the river's west branch in spring, summer or fall.

Millinocket, once a lumbering colony, serves as a hub for visitors to Baxter State Park and is a four-season recreation destination. This is the spot to plan your remote fishing, wilderness camping, hiking, and hunting expeditions.

Baxter State Park is a magnificent, 200,000-acre wilderness preserve. Trails lead up mile-high Mt. Katahdin, Maine's highest peak, and the northern terminus of the Appalachian Trail. Plan ahead to hike or camp in this protected, limited-access park.

Yankee magazine's 2010 "Best of New England" Editor's Choice award went to the TommyKnockers and More Bus Tour, sponsored by the Bangor Convention & Visitors Bureau!

Trail's End Festival	Millinocket	September
International Seaplane Fly-in	Greenville	September
Bangor Arts & Crafts Festival		November

So Much More to Do:

- Take a Moose Safari in the Moosehead Lake region to catch sight of Maine's "Official State Animal."
- Stroll through Mt. Hope Cemetery in Bangor, America's second-oldest garden cemetery and the backdrop for Stephen King's Pet Sematary.
- Cruise Moosehead Lake on the historic Steamship Katahdin
- Visit the University of Maine Museum of Art in Bangor, with works by Marsden Hartley, Winslow Homer, John Marin, Andrew Wyeth and other Maine artists.
- Take a guided canoe expedition into the southern half of the Allagash Wilderness Waterway. Or plan a winter snowmobile or cross-country skiing getaway exploring the region's extensive interconnected trail system.

Nahmakanta Lake Wilderness Camps

"True Maine Wilderness"

Established 1872. Maine's famed "North Woods" and the largest wilderness preserve in the East surrounds our Camp on sparkling, spring-fed "Nahmakanta", often called Maine's most beautiful lake! Comfortable, newly-restored, lakefront guest cabins lie between two trout streams in an idyllic setting of tall shade trees, spacious green lawns, and wildflowers. Our area is home to an amazing variety of wildlife including a large moose population, loons, and over 100 species of birds. Miles of hiking trails lead to towering pine forests, scenic over-looks, spectacular waterfalls, and many backcountry lakes with salmon and wild brook trout up to 5 pounds! Excellent home-cooked meals served daily in our historic 19th century dining lodge. Canoeing, kayaking, moose tours, or just relaxing!

DownEast & Acadia Region

A region renowned for its many picturesque harbors and classic fishing villages, DownEast & Acadia offers stunning landscapes, rich history and abundant opportunities for recreation, wildlife watching and pure relaxation. Watch America's first sunrise from points Downeast and enjoy the authentic character of this spectacular part of Maine.

West Quoddy Head Light, Lubec

DownEast & Acadia

DownEastAcadia.com

Insider's Guide

Penobscot Narrows Bridge and Observatory in Bucksport forms a stunning gateway to the region. Catch a panoramic view from 420 feet up and tour historic Fort Knox. Then explore the coastal villages on beautiful Blue Hill Peninsula and Deer Isle/Stonington.

Ellsworth's lumbering and boat-building past make it a must for history buffs. Tour the Woodlawn Museum at Col. John Black's magnificent estate. Explore local shops and restaurants. Visit Lamoine State Park or picnic along the Blackwoods Scenic Byway on Route 182.

Mount Desert Island is home to the bustling resort town of Bar Harbor as well as Southwest Harbor and Northeast Harbor on the island's "quiet side." Go whale watching and then explore Maine's Native American history at the Abbe Museum.

Acadia National Park is a magnificent, 40,000-acre expanse of mountains-to-the-sea grandeur. Watch the sunrise from Cadillac Mountain, bike more than 45 miles of carriage roads built by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and tour the scenic 27-mile Loop Road.

Schoodic Point is where you'll find the less-traveled part of Acadia National Park. Explore the seaside villages of Hancock, Sullivan, Sorrento, Gouldsboro and Winter Harbor. See the elegant homes from Milbridge to Harrington and enjoy a lobster in Jonesport or Beal's Island.

Wild blueberry barrens along Machias Bay produce their luscious harvest in late July and August. Stop in Machias for a delicious meal and a visit to the Burnham Tavern Museum to learn about the first naval battle of the American Revolution. Then walk along the pebble beach at beautiful Roque Bluffs State Park.

Maine's Bold Coast stretches for 30 miles along Route 191 between Cutler and Lubec, offering spectacular vistas. Take a Puffin trip from Cutler harbor to Machias Seal Island. Hike or bird watch in the Cutler Coast Public Reserve, one of Maine's "untouched treasures."

Way DownEast, you can explore historic Eastport, enjoy Quoddy Head State Park, and tour FDR's summer home on Campobello Island, Canada (be sure to have your passport or passport card). Watch sea life in Passamaquoddy Bay aboard a windjammer. In Calais, visit the St. Croix Island International Historic Site. Fish for salmon and trout in Grand Lake Stream, spot rare birds and keep your camera handy.

In 2010, Travel + Leisure magazine rated Mount Desert Island the #1 island in the continental US and Canada!

So Much More to Do...

- Tour the Birdsacre-Stanwood Wildlife Sanctuary in Ellsworth, a 130-acre nature preserve that shouldn't be missed!
- Take a lighthouse tour – there are more than 25 in this region!
- Visit the Wendell Gilley Museum in Southwest Harbor to see a world-class woodcarving collection
- Pedal or paddle your way along the coast. There are bike and kayak outfitters in many towns along the way
- Enjoy afternoon tea and popovers on the lawn of the beautiful Jordan Pond House in Acadia National Park

Where Acadia meets the Sea.

Whether you like to hike, bike, swim, sail or just relax by the pool, the Kimball Terrace Inn has it all! Overlooking a crystal blue harbor, at the edge of Acadia National Park, the Inn has all the amenities today's travelers expect, in a picturesque Maine coast setting. Most rooms have private balconies facing the harbor and luxury yacht marina. Our smoke-free Main Sail Restaurant serves breakfast, lunch and dinner 7 days a week, and has a full service cocktail lounge and outdoor patio.

Northeast Harbor, with its superb shops is a short walk along a shady footpath. Bustling Bar Harbor is just 11 miles away. And golf, tennis, watersports and boat trips are nearby. Our friendly staff is ready to welcome you for an unforgettable vacation.

Visit Maine's DownEast & Acadia Region

Welcome to the place where sunlight first touches America each morning. Here you'll find wild blueberry barrens, pristine woodlands, sparkling lakes, streams and rivers, and of course, Maine's most rugged and picturesque coastline. Explore our many lighthouses and fill your official U.S. Lighthouse Society passport. Experience spectacular Acadia National Park. The DownEast and Acadia region is considered by many to be the "true" Maine, with a distinctive character that makes it unlike any other destination.

Flyfish in Grand Lake Stream

Enjoy lobster at a dockside restaurant

4 Schoodic &

DownEast – Thrill to the surf at Schoodic Point, explore the villages of Hancock, Sullivan, Sorrento, Gouldsboro and Winter Harbor. See the elegant homes from Milbridge to Harrington, and enjoy a lobster in Jonesport or Beal's Island.

6 Way DownEast – Cast a line in Grand Lake for salmon or trout, thrill to the sight of rare birds, and shoot photos along miles of scenic roadways. Explore historic Eastport, tour Quoddy Head State Park, and cross over to Campobello Island to tour FDR's summer home. Visit the St. Croix Island International Historic Site in Calais.

Explore the wild blueberry barrens

5 Machias Bay – See the vast expanse of wild blueberry barrens, smell the sweet scent of fir and spruce woodlands, and stop in Machias for a delicious meal. Walk along the pebble beach at Roque Bluffs State Park, and hike through miles of public reserve land.

Marvel at Acadia National Park's beauty

7 Acadia National Park

– Established in 1919, Acadia National Park is 40,000 acres of scenic coastal lands with 17 mountain peaks including Cadillac Mountain. Within the park, enjoy more than 45 miles of carriage trails built by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., or tour the 27 mile Loop Road.

Maine
There's More To Maine

Acadia National Park

Samuel Champlain explored the area that now includes Acadia National Park in 1604, naming it "Isle des Monts Desert" because of the bare granite summits. In 1916, a group in Hancock County led by George B. Dorr offered 6,000 acres to the U.S. government for conservation, land that President Woodrow Wilson designated Sieur de Monts National Monument. In 1919, Lafayette National Park was established. Acadia received its present name in 1929, and today it is rated among the 10 most-visited national parks. The park has about 47,000 acres (including conservation easements), encompassing mountains, lakes, forest and shoreline. For many people, a Maine vacation would not be complete without a visit to Acadia.

In the tradition of its founders, individuals have donated all of the park's lands. Between 1915 and 1933, John D. Rockefeller Jr. contributed more than 11,000 acres and built the wonderful carriage roads. These broad, smooth, graveled byways delight equestrians, hikers, bicyclists, snowshoers and cross-country skiers. The carriage roads encircle Jordan Pond and Eagle Lake and wind around Sargent and Penobscot Mountains, providing stunning views of Frenchman Bay and Somes Sound.

Northern and temperate climate zones overlap here, resulting in an abundance of wildlife, including 300 species of birds. The park also offers:

- More than 120 miles of hiking trails with breathtaking views
- Two campgrounds
- Park Loop Road, a 20-mile drive starting at the Halls Cove Visitor Center, that brings you to Sand Beach, Thunder Hole, Otter Cliffs, Jordan Pond and the summit of Cadillac Mountain. A self-guiding tape is available at the Visitor Center.
- Swimming beaches with lifeguards (one on the ocean at Sand Beach, one at warmer Echo Lake).
- The Wild Gardens of Acadia at Sieur de Monts Spring, where more than 400 plants are labeled and displayed in their habitat.

Start your visit to Acadia at Halls Cove Visitor Center, open from mid-April through October 31. Ask for a schedule of ranger-led activities that include boat cruises, hikes, walks, talks, children's programs and evening programs. During the winter, visit Park Headquarters on Highway 233, three miles west of Bar Harbor.

Most of the park is located on Mount Desert Island, easily accessible by car from Bangor and the coast. Hancock County Airport is minutes away. The Island Explorer shuttle bus picks visitors up at their lodging or campground and links them to destinations across Mount Desert Island and into Acadia National Park. The service is supported in part by park fees, so the ride is fare-free. The shuttle operates from late June to mid-October.

For more information, call 288-3338 or visit www.nps.gov/acad.

Bar Harbor

& Acadia National Park

Bar Harbor is the heart and soul of Maine's coastal heritage. Nestled between the mountains of Acadia National Park and the crystal blue Atlantic Ocean, the town of Bar Harbor is a vibrant and historic community of artists, writers, lobster fisherman and outdoor enthusiasts.

Located on Mount Desert Island, the third largest island on the eastern seaboard, Bar Harbor has enchanted visitors throughout the ages with its incredible natural beauty, cultural traditions and endless opportunities for recreation.

Located on the shores of Frenchman Bay, Bar Harbor offers the charm of a small Maine fishing village with a wide range of services, accommodations, restaurants, activities, shopping, and cultural heritage.

Bar Harbor is home to Acadia National Park. Surrounded on three sides by the mountains of Acadia National Park, Bar Harbor serves as the perfect base for exploring the park.

Acadia National Park is the only national park in the Northeast and is big on attractions. Early risers can drive, bike, or hike up Cadillac Mountain, the highest point on the East Coast, to watch the sunrise. They'll be the first in the United States to see the dawning of a new day. Later they can stop in for popovers and strawberry jam at the famous Jordan Pond House, a delightful restaurant founded in the early 1870s.

Motorists who drive the Park Loop Road enjoy a 27-mile ride along ocean-side cliffs and through mountain forests, stopping at scenic turnouts and notable attractions along the way, like the mighty Thunder Hole and Sand Beach. The trip is a must.

One of the most amazing features of Acadia National Park is the interlaced system of hiking trails and carriage roads. With varied lengths and difficulty levels, the 130 miles of trails appeal to everyone from casual walkers to seasoned tri-athletes. Hike, bike, snowshoe, cross-country ski—or go on horseback.

Bar Harbor and Acadia National Park are home to a variety of wildlife. Whales, porpoises, seals, bald eagles, peregrine falcons, osprey and puffins are commonly sighted among the rocky-cliffed coastline of our region. You may also catch a glimpse of a deer or fox as well as the more elusive moose or black bear. Bar Harbor and Acadia National Park have become known world-wide as one of the best destinations for bird and wildlife watching.

Bar Harbor and Acadia National Park have something for everyone. Whether you are looking for an outdoor adventure like hiking, kayaking, or biking or maybe just some of Maine's best dining and accommodations, there is a unique experience awaiting you, all set on the back drop of the most picturesque scenery you will find anywhere. We look forward to seeing you soon and hope you enjoy your stay.

To receive more information on Bar Harbor & Acadia National Park, please contact the Bar Harbor Chamber of Commerce at 888-270-9928 or visit VacationBarHarbor.com.

Kennebec & Moose River Valleys Region

Kennebec & Moose River Valleys

A vivid landscape of river towns, lakes, mountains and vast forests, the Kennebec & Moose River Valleys region offers visitors a wonderful combination of outdoor adventure, scenic splendor, history and culture. Famous for its whitewater rafting and snowmobiling, the region also boasts nationally known museums, Shakespearean theater, Maine's capital city, and an international heritage corridor.

Insider's Guide

In Augusta, Maine's capital city, you can explore 12,000 years of history at the Maine State Museum and visit the Capitol Building with its 180-foot granite dome. Make time for Old Fort Western, built in 1754, and beautiful Viles Arboretum. Nearby Hallowell is a must for antiquers.

Waterville boasts two colleges, Colby and Thomas, the turn-of-the-century Waterville Opera House, and the renowned Maine International Film Festival. Be sure to see the outstanding collection of American art at the Colby College Museum of Art.

The Skowhegan Indian—62-feet tall—welcomes you to this classic river town. Cross the Kennebec on the Swinging Bridge. Visit the Margaret Chase Smith Library; and see a show at historic Lakewood Theater. In nearby Hinckley, discover the offbeat L.C. Bates Museum.

The Belgrade Lakes region inspired Ernest Thompson to write his play, On Golden Pond. Enjoy superb fishing, boating, hiking, biking and golf on a championship course, plus spectacular fall foliage and winter cross-country skiing and ice fishing.

The Forks, hub of whitewater rafting, is where the Dead and Kennebec Rivers converge. Local guides provide gear, meals and lodging. Come also for fishing, hiking on the Appalachian Trail, mountain biking, hunting, ATVing, moose spotting and snowmobiling. Make the half-mile trek to 96-foot Moxie Falls.

The Old Canada Road National Scenic Byway (Route 201) traces a centuries-old travel route between Maine and Canada. Wind through scenic forests, mountains and old-time villages, along the Kennebec River, Wyman Lake and the Dead River, between Solon and the Quebec border.

Jackman, on The Old Canada Road, is gateway to 60 lakes, ponds and streams as well as an extensive interconnected snowmobiling trail system and a growing ATV trail network. Picnic at the Attean View rest area. Stay at a traditional sporting camp. Canoe, kayak or fish for trout and landlocked salmon.

The Kennebec-Chaudiere Corridor stretches into Quebec, marking the early, river trading routes of the Abenaki, and the much-traveled path of European settlers. Look for interpretive signs and maps at locations along Route 201.

Maine Huts & Trails Flagstaff Lake Hut was named one of "The Best Winter Adventure lodges" by Outside Magazine in 2009.

CENTER

The CENTER for MAINE CRAFT is a store & gallery featuring fine craft made by the hands of hundreds of Maine craft artists: baskets, ceramics, fiber, furniture, glass, jewelry, metal, paper, stone, wood and other Maine products: prints, cards, specialty food, music, video & body care.

EVENTS: add the Center to your itinerary!

In addition to year-round shopping, the Center for Maine Craft hosts Studio Days and other free, public artist-led activities and events each Saturday in July & August.
